The last DLC is not bad compared to the first one. You will find a charismatic main character, a soundtrack that adds to the atmosphere, good balance and an original story and levels.. I really liked this expansion, It was very fun for 1.5h of playtime, but it is extremely overpriced. 10eur is way too much, it should be 5eur at max.. Just no! Asset recycling! No new game mechanics! The DLC is happening in Alaska, what about some nature? Anything that is not a boring nazi base?? At least a forest level could be added or something not this boring claustrophobia military station levels! This DLC is worth more like 2.5 eur! Even the character and story is boring as hell!

No real value here, get the Old Blood because it offeres so much more!!!. tl;dr: It's a DOOM-like FPS with absolutely no adrenaline or a puzzle game with badly designed puzzles. I don't know how I could come down more harsh on a game than that

Remember the decent story plot and how the levels were so well designed that makes you feel like you are freely exploring it while still being able to guide you through everything as they are designed to be played from the main game?

This DLC is nothing like that.

The level designs are so bad and without any guide or minimap, you are on your own. Have fun looking at every single hole on the wall to try to find out the route to the next part of the storyline. And the story itself also sucks big\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665 The little story plot remaining in this DLC is so predictable despite already being really short. Guess what? The guy who everyone thinks is a spy at the beginning, is really a spy. WOW! Who could see that coming?

On top of that, there is no cinematic or whatsoever. Everything is so repetitive. I've only encountered 3 types of enemy (all are copied from base game) in my 3 hours experience with it.

And, come to think about it, this is actually the best episode in Wolfenstein II: The Freedom Chronicles.
